

Transition Word

Thought
of sentence
One

1. To indicate a conclusion or result
2. To introduce an illustration
3. To add a thought
4. To make a qualification or contrast

Thought
of
sentence
Two

3/4 3/4 3/4 3/4 3/4 3/4 3/4 3/4 3/4 3/4

To Indicate a Conclusion or Result

Therefore,
As a result, Consequently,
In other words,
To sum up, Thus
Then Hence

To Introduce an Illustration

Thus
For example,
For instance,
To illustrate,
Namely,

To Add A Thought

Second,
In the second place,
Next,
Likewise, Moreover,
Again,
In addition,
Finally, Similarity, Further

To Make a Qualification or Contrast

On the other hand, Nevertheless,
Still,
On the contrary,
However,
But Or Nor

TRANSITIONS

Transitions are used within and between paragraphs to show a change from one idea to another and to provide direction for the reader.

Time or Order

after	during	meanwhile	soon
at last	eventually	next	then at the same time	first	now	to begin with before	later	since	until

Contrast or Change of Thought

although	however	on the other hand	still but	in contrast	or	too yet
conversely	in fact	otherwise
even so	nevertheless	rather

Addition

again	besides	furthermore	next
also	equally important	in addition	one reason and this	finally	likewise
another	first	moreover

Illustration

for example	in other words	that is for instance	such as	to illustrate

Comparison

in the same way	likewise	similarly
-----------------	----------	-----------

Importance

a central issue	a significant factor	especially important	the basic concept
a key feature	above all	should be noted	the principal theme
a primary concern

Result

as a result	hence	therefore	to this end consequently	so	thus	while for this reason	then

Not definite

alleged	purported	seems like	was reported
---------	-----------	------------	--------------

Emphasis

again	indeed	in fact	to repeat
-------	--------	---------	-----------

Conclusion or Summary

as a result	finally	in short	thus as one can see	hence	in sum	undoubtedly clearly then	in conclusion	the fact remains	unquestionable
consequently	in other words	therefore	